Man not charged in killing

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

A 59-year-old Granite City man who police say admitted shooting a 20-year-old neighbor to death Wednesday evening has not been charged with any crime.

"The state's attorney's office declined to issue a charge. The case will be taken to the grand jury (this) week," Granite City Police Chief Dave Ruebhausen said.

Gary L. Hoerle Jr., of the 1700 block of Primrose Avenue, was pronounced dead at St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 7:22 a.m. Thursday. Police say he was shot once in the chest with a .22-caliber rifle from relatively close range at about 5:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Hoerle's father, who was present at the scene of the shooting, rushed him to the hospital. According to police reports, the shooting took place about a block from the Hoerle home, at the home of the man police say has admitted shooting Hoerle.

"The father and son went to the suspect's house and there was a discussion about some tools and some money. That escalated into an argument and resulted in a shooting," Ruebhausen said.

Hoerle was seen running from the scene, apparently shot, and the suspect was holding a .22-caliber rifle in his hands when police arrived, a report states. The suspect was taken into custody, gave police a statement and was later released at the request of the state's attorney's office, Ruebhausen said.

The Journal will not identify the suspect unless he is charged.

"I do not consider him to be a menace or a threat to society," Ruebhausen said of the alleged shooter.

Witnesses said that the Hoerles went to the suspect's home to collect some tools the Pastor says working for God:

More than 9-to-5 job

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Working for God is not a nine-to-five job, and you have to learn to "go with the flow."

At least that's what the Rev. Henry Crippen, pastor of Word of Life Tabernacle, 4670 Maryville Road, says. The church — independent charismatic — was started by Crippen in 1962. At the time, he was in the supermarket business, and continued so for about 10 years, until the congregation became large enough for a full-time pastor. "I had lived a pretty rough life before I was converted," he said.

"My conversion in 1960 was so dramatic that the pastor that I was under at the time asked me to share my testimony," he continued. "That was the foundation of going into the ministry, getting up in front of the church and saying 'I was this bad, and God made me better.'"

Crippen and his wife started attending

Trash contract won't hike fee

City will absorb extra cost

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Granite City will pay an additional $40,000 a year for garbage collection under the terms of an extension of its current hauling contract with Waste Management of Metro East.

But the city will make up the difference from existing revenue sources rather than increase the monthly garbage fee assessed residents.

"Right now, I expect that we'll just absorb that difference," Mayor Ron Selph said. "Perhaps sometime down the road we'll have to take a look at (increasing the fee). But I don't see that happening during the life of this contract."

On Tuesday night, the City Council unanimously approved the extension to its garbage hauling contract with Waste Management. Under the terms of the new pact, the city will pay $7.71 per house to Waste Management each month for residential garbage collection. In exchange, Waste Management will collect garbage at each of 10,686 homes in the city once each week and dispose of it. The extension will expire Aug. 31 next year.

Selph

"The new hauling charge represents a 5 percent increase in cost to the city. Under the old pact, the city had been paying Waste Management $7.35 per house each month."

It is said that city-wide hauling contracts usually result in a more favorable collection and disposal fee than if residents were left on their own to negotiate with haulers. Granite City residents pay the city a garbage fee of $6 each month to help offset the cost of residential collection; collection at city-owned buildings and schools; and a limited amount of "free" dumping at the Chain of Rocks Landfill.

The city picks up the rest of the tab. While the city does not offer curbside recycling to all residents, Waste Management will provide the once-a-week

Hepatitis A case confirmed at school

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

School and health officials are taking no chances in dealing with a student at Maryville Elementary School confirmed Friday afternoon as having hepatitis A.

"We have called in the Illinois Department of Public Health and St. Elizabeth Medical Center," said Tom Holloway, director of secondary education and health services for the Granite City School District. "The school district learned of the case at 1:30 p.m. Friday, Holloway said.

He said the student is in a pre-school at-risk program at Maryville and thus has contact with few students.

Because close personal contact is necessary to transmit the virus, free immune globulin injections will be given Monday to the 33 students in two classes with the student in question, Holloway said.

Because Maryville School dismisses at 2 p.m., school officials were unable to draft a letter to parents in time to

Firebombing tied to racial tension

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The Madison County Sheriff's Department is investigating what may be a racially-motivated firebombing in an unincorporated area near the city of Madison.

According to some residents of the area and police, there has been some racial tension in the area in the past few weeks. Sheriff's department reports said that at about 8:50 p.m. Monday someone threw a home-made firebomb through the window of a home in the 1900 block of Fourth Street, just outside the Madison city limits.

The victim, who is white, said he was in bed when he heard a

Holsinger leads team

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

Last year, the Granite City tennis Lady Warriors were a vastly-improved team, and a big part of the turnaround was the team's depth under head coach Linda Ames.

Last year, Marci Holsinger, now 17, was a part of the underclass depth of the team. This year, she's the No. 1 player on the team, and a leader as well.

"This team has a better work ethic overall than last year's team did," Ames said. "They really take instruction well." Holsinger, a four-year letter winner in tennis at GCHS, has assumed the No. 1 singles position, and now she's beginning to approach the top of the conference in her position.

Holsinger defeated Collinsville's No. 1 player, who was rated in the top two conference players, on Thursday night. Now, it appears her dreams of regional and sectional success may be realized.

Holsinger ripped Autumn Wilke of Collinsville 6-1 and 7-5. Holsinger isn't letting the relative inexperience of the Warrior team bring them down. She is helping the team face its toughest challenges head on.

The senior player has practiced the game at times in the Belleville area, where facilities are more abundant. She said the Belleville teams have a distinct advantage over other schools that don't have access to such places.

"It's kind of wacky in this area," she said. "It makes it difficult for a team like us to play them, and it can be kind of humbling. But it helps in the long run to play teams like that. You see how the good players play the game."

For more about Holsinger, see Sports on Page 1B.

Driver charged in death

A rural Edwardsville man has been charged with reckless homicide in the Aug. 29 traffic accident that killed a South Roxana man.

Madison County State's Attorney William Haine said charges were filed Wednesday morning against Eugene Helms, 33, of the 2000 block of Sand Road. An arrest warrant has been issued and bond set at $50,000.

Haine said Helms had a blood-alcohol content of .23 percent when the vehicle he was driving collided on Chain of Rocks Road with a motorcycle driven by Carl Heltzley, 56.

Under state law, a blood-alcohol level of .10 or higher is considered intoxication.

"The State Police also has some evidence that (Helms) was refused service by a bartender immediately prior to the accident because of his intoxication," Haine said. "Personally, I think we have a good case."

Helms also faces charges filed earlier of driving under the influence of alcohol, improper lane usage and illegal transportation of alcohol, according to State Police reports.

Relatives of Heltzley, who died at St. Louis University Hospital several hours after the crash, welcomed the reckless homicide charge.

"(The family) would just like to see justice done, whatever it is," said his sister, Wilma Molsinger of Wood River. "It won't bring my brother back, but it will show (Helms) that he can't get away with things like that."

A State Police official said Helms' lawyer has indicated Helms is making plans to turn himself in to authorities.

"It was a terrible accident considering that this motorcyclist was using the roadway in a proper manner," Haine said. According to State Police, Helms was driving east on Chain of Rocks Road between Illinois Route 111 and Sand Road when his vehicle collided with the westbound motorcycle driven by Heltzley.

Haine said he disputes Helms' account of the accident. Helms told an investigating officer that the motorcycle tried to pass a white car and collided head-on with his vehicle, reports said.

Man faces cruelty to animal charge

A man who allegedly beat a kitten and kicked a puppy, and a man who assaulted him after the incidents, were arrested Tuesday evening.

According to police, Robert S. Sale, 23, of the 2000 block of Bechtwith, was charged with aggravated cruelty to animals and criminal damage to property, and Michael J. Thomason, 23, of the 1700 block of Kennedy, was charged with battery.

In addition, Thomason had outstanding warrants for failing to appear on a battery and domestic battery charge from the Madison police department.

According to police reports, at about 3:45 p.m. Tuesday, officers responded to a report of a fight at Sale's home.

At the scene, Thomason told officers Sale had set a kitten on fire.

Man faces 50 years for role in Dietzel murder

A 39-year-old Cahokia man could go to prison for up to 50 years for his role in the 1992 strangling and beating death of JoAnn Dietzel.

Edward Miller, who was scheduled for trial later this month, entered an Alford plea Wednesday to a first-degree murder charge in exchange for a prosecutor's promise to seek no more than 50 years behind bars.

"I'm glad it's over," said Frank Onesky, Dietzel's father. "I'm just glad we don't have to go through another trial."

In an Alford plea, a defendant does not admit guilt but acknowledges there is enough evidence for a conviction.

A co-defendant in the case, Terry Ridenour, 36, of Godfrey, was acquitted of Dietzel's murder after a weeklong jury trial last September.

Ridenour's jury rejected the testimony of Miller, the state's star witness, who claimed on the witness stand that he supplied Ridenour with weapons used in the July 13, 1992, slaying in Dietzel's Bethany Lane home in Foster Township. Dietzel formerly lived in Granite City.

"He entered the Alford plea as an accomplice to the murder," Miller's attorney, Thomas Hildebrand of Alton, said. "He still persists in his statements that Ridenour killed her. He was just there. He persists that he was in fear of his own life. He said Ridenour threatened to kill him if he didn't help."

Trone said Miller supplied State's Attorney Robert Trone, who prosecuted both Miller and Ridenour, outlined the case Wednesday before Madison County Associate Judge J. Lawrence Keshner.

Ridenour with several murder weapons, including a fireplace poker, fireplace tongs, a necktie and a souvenir baseball bat.

Trone said the two men beat and strangled the 32-year-old Dietzel after an apparent quarrel. He said they tried to make the crime appear like a burglary by cutting outside wires and ransacking the house.

Miller claimed during Ridenour's trial that he ransacked the home while Ridenour murdered Dietzel. He said he handed Ridenour several weapons at Ridenour's request.

Miller implicated Ridenour in the murder after Miller was arrested on burglary charges in 1992 in Wisconsin. Authorities turned down his offer to testify in exchange for immunity and charged him with murder.

When police matched Miller's palm print to a broken baseball bat found protruding from Dietzel's abdomen, he agreed to plead guilty and testify. During the trial, Miller said he planned to stand trial as well.

Miller told police he implicated Ridenour because Ridenour had threatened Miller's wife and he was afraid Ridenour might harm her.

During Miller's hearing Wednesday, Trone said Ridenour attacked Dietzel and knocked her across her kitchen. He said Miller retrieved a necktie from a bedroom for Ridenour, then held the tie to Dietzel's neck so Ridenour could tie a knot and strangle her.

My view

P-D reports only the news that fits

Several weeks back, Ray Hartmann, publisher of the Riverfront Times, wrote a column in his paper regarding the behavior of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Hartmann's story is worth repeating. Hartmann reported that in July, at the Greater St. Louis Association of Black Journalists' Annual Awards presentation, the Post-Dispatch won three awards in the category of newspapers over 100,000 circulation.

There were nine awards given out in this category, according to Ray, and the Riverfront Times won all six remaining awards. Take Five magazine and the St. Louis American also won awards.

The following Monday, the awards presentation was covered at length in the Post-Dispatch. The P-D article featured the fact that the P-D had won three awards but failed to mention that the Riverfront Times won six, or that the St.

Don Miller

Louis American and Take Five magazine also won awards.

The Riverfront Times won for best news reporting, political coverage, feature story, news analysis, editorial and photography. They have a justifiable right to be proud.

The news importance of the awards, although a matter of pride to the recipients, is really minor. What really is important is the underlying question raised by Hartmann's story. If the Post-Dispatch would "manage" the news to suit its purposes on such a small item, how many other news stories is it manipulating to advance its various political or personal agendas? Plenty, I suspect. For fifteen bucks a month, the readers have a right to expect the P-D to report the news honestly.

The P-D's manipulation of the reporting of the Black Awards presentation may be tied to what appears to be a coordinated effort by the P-D to extend its daily monopoly into the weekly field by attacking the Riverfront Times.

In recent weeks, the P-D has redesigned and expanded its Thursday entertainment section in an obvious but weak effort to mimic the design and features of the RFT, and now is reprinting the entertainment section and distributing it at RFT outlets around the city.

However, based on the quality of the P-D's efforts, I don't think Ray Hartmann has much to worry about.

GUILTY, GUILTY, GUILTY. I am guilty as charged. In the everyday hustle and bustle of business, I occasionally do something really stupid, and, unfortunately, one of my most recent errors got into print. In a column celebrating my new grandson, I violated the rules of grammar by referring to "my wife and I" instead of "I" and "my wife and I" instead of "we". I knew the correct usage and intended to correct the error before I released the column, but somehow forgot to do so. I was so enthusiastic about the topic that I got careless.

On the other hand, I am very impressed by the number of people who took the time to call or write me, and appreciate the well-deserved correction. Thank you, R.O. Johnson, Van Dillen, Evelyn Donnell and everyone who called or wrote.

THANK YOU. Also, thanks to Wildman Brestal in Belleville who was nice enough to share her list of favorite authors with me. We share one thing in common — we both like Tony Hillerman novels but are suffering as there have not been any new Hillerman novels published in several years.

Letter to the editor

Merger makes a lot of sense

TO THE EDITOR: "Kudos" to the Collinsville Humane Society and the Madison County Humane Society for the upcoming merger of the two societies.

As a founding member, a past president and shelter director, and board member until 1992, I congratulate the two groups on coming together. The most important aspect of this possible merger is the humane care and treatment of the animals at the shelter.

The Collinsville Humane Society has a long history of helping animals find good homes. They were also the first society in this area to offer first aid to injured animals found on the streets of Collinsville.

In 1985 Ledy Vankavage asked the Collinsville Humane Society Board members to be advisers to help them form a county-wide humane society. We spent many hours at Ledy's house, with other animal lovers, working to found a new group.

It was a great day when Madison County Humane Society was formed to be able to help animals in the Rabies Control Facility find good homes.

Dr. David Hall has done an excellent job of bringing professionalism to the county facility and making sure the animals receive humane treatment. This is not always so in man pounds throughout the state.

Injured and sick animals picked up by Caseyville Animal Control. We hope to be working with O'Fallon and other cities in the St. Clair County area.

Good luck to both Societies as they work together to make the merger a reality.

when you own furniture sold by Barewood Furniture Gallery, you own a piece of American history. That's because our furniture is made with a certain kind of pride. The same pride that once made American crafted furniture the envy of the world. And before the end of the century, American made products were indeed, second to none. Today, there are those who say the days of quality and pride are gone. That American workers have turned lazy and uncaring. But we're proving those people wrong at Barewood Furniture Gallery. And we'll continue to make our world class furniture with pride of workmanship. Because people like you still have pride of ownership.

Ambulance firm seeks payment from Venice

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A local ambulance firm is seeking more than $26,000 from the city of Venice for unpaid ambulance service prior to 1995. At Tuesday's city council meeting, Mayor Tyron Echols referred a letter from attorney Michael R. Jones of Centralia to City Attorney Casper Nighoshian.

The letter states the city owes Campbell-Superior Ambulance Service $26,199.79 for unpaid ambulance calls prior to 1995, when LifeForce Paramedic Ambulance Service Corp. took over the area.

The letter stated that as part of Campbell's service agreement with the Venice, the city had agreed to cover any bills left unpaid by residents after 90 days.

After the meeting, Echols said that agreement was made because of the difficulty in keeping ambulance service in the area because of costs. He said it practically guaranteed the city would have to pay much of the cost of ambulance service.

He also noted that LifeForce had recently announced it was leaving Madison County because of a lack of business. However, company officials recently said they would stay in the area for an indefinite time.

Echols also said he was unsure if the city actually owed the money.

He said former Alderman Michael Terrell had been handling the matter.

"His report was that the debt was not ours," Echols said. "I don't know if we owe these bills or not."

In other business, the board approved hiring C.D. Peters Construction Co. of Granite City to repair sewer manholes in city alleys. The company will raise the manholes to street level.

Alderman John Ervin, chairman of the Street and Alley Committee, said many of the manholes have been covered up or are several inches below the street level, because so much rock had built up.

Engineer Charlie Juneau was expected to meet with city officials Thursday to inspect the alleys. Ervin said he was unsure of the exact number of manholes to be repaired, but the number could be as high as 10.

The cost of the repairs is estimated at about $400 per manhole, and will be paid with Motor Fuel Tax funds.

BBB ready to fill consumer gap

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

While the closing of the Granite City office of the Illinois Attorney General has left a hole in consumer protection for local residents, the Better Business Bureau is ready to step in.

As part of a reallocation of funds, 12 of 18 regional Attorney General's offices were closed last Thursday, including the Granite City office.

Former employees at that office said last week the move will leave area residents with little protection against consumer fraud.

However, Michelle Corey, vice president of the St. Louis Better Business Bureau, said Tuesday that Granite City residents can contact her organization for information and help.

"We provide consumers with information about a company's reputation," she said.

The organization also monitors advertising, puts out consumer advisories, and is concerned not only with illegal, but also unethical, business practices.

One of 191 bureaus throughout the country, the St. Louis BBB covers eastern Missouri and all of Southern Illinois. Corey said the nonprofit organization had almost 250,000 inquiries last year, and investigated about 11,000 consumer complaints.

While the BBB covers a large region, Corey said most of the calls and complaints come from St. Louis and nearby urban areas. She said approximately 25 percent of the calls come from the Metro East.

Right now, she said inquiries about home repair services are most common. Later in the fall, they will field large numbers of calls about dry cleaners as people start to prepare their winter wardrobe.

Home repair and automobile sales and services are the most common inquiries and complaints.

"They are large ticket purchases, so people want to spend their money wisely," she said. "People only do these things a few times in their lives. If there is a problem, people will complain."

Corey said making a complaint is very simple. "All they need to do is call our office and provide the information," she said.

The number for both complaints and inquiries is 314-531-3300.

Complaints can be filed from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The BBB operates a 24-hour voice-response inquiry system.

Hospital plans diabetes class

Are you a diabetic? "You're not alone," said Kathy Haarmann, RN, BSN and certified diabetes educator. "There is no cure for diabetes, but there is a lot of information available that can help diabetics lead full lives and avoid further complications."

Haarmann, the patient education coordinator at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, will be part of the teaching team in a free "Take Charge of Your Diabetes" class offered at SEMC.

The class will be held from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 13, at the Collinsville Health Center, 800 St. Louis Road in Collinsville.

The class will include:

- a general overview of diabetes;
- symptoms;
- diabetes management, exercise;
- testing; and
- complications.

A registered dietitian will present nutrition information related to diabetes, including information on sweeteners, fiber, label reading and fast foods. A pharmacist will speak on medications, including insulin and oral agents.

Diabetes is the number one cause of new blindness and the third leading cause of death by disease in this country.

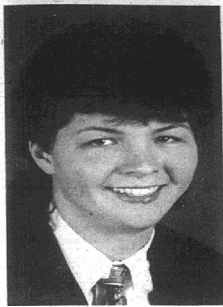

The class is free. However, space is limited. Preregistration is required.

For more information, call SEMC at 798-3301.

Obituaries

Gary Hoerle

Gary Lee Hoerle Jr., 20, of Granite City died at 2:20 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 7, 1995, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he had been a patient for 13 hours. He was born Oct. 29, 1974, in Belleville and had been a lifelong resident of Granite City.

A sales associate with R.K. Stratman Company for four years, he was a member of Hope Lutheran Church in Granite City.

He was active with the debate team while in high school and enjoyed rebuilding automobiles and bowling.

Survivors include his parents, Gary Lee Hoerle Sr. and Marti (Mayberry) Hoerle of Granite City; one brother, Chad Allen Hoerle, at home; two half sisters, Tina Marie Hoerle and Melissa Hoerle, both of Springfield, Mo.; his fiancée, Mindy Gillett of St. Peters, Mo.; and his grandmother, Dorothy Mayberry of Collinsville.

Services were Saturday at Hope Lutheran Church in Granite City with the Rev. David Fielding officiating. Burial was in Sunset Hill Memorial Estates in Glen Carbon. Arrangements were handled by Thomas Memorial Mortuary in Granite City.

Memorials are requested for the Lutheran Hour.

He died at 1:14 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 7, 1995, at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis, following a short illness. He was born March 31, 1912, in Big County, Texas, and had been a resident of Mitchell for 40 years prior to moving to Wilsonville eight years ago.

A maintenance employee with A.O. Smith in Granite City prior to his retirement in 1977, he was a member of Unity Chapel in Granite City and the Masonic Lodge 877 in Granite City and a former member of Bolleymakers Local and Carpenters Local.

Survivors include one son, Richard Long of New Douglas; three daughters, Dorothy Jean Gibson of Woods, Roberta Jane Hull of Duplo and Georgia Diane Reeves of Gillespie; three sisters, Kay Roach of Delaware, Mary Quitt of Florissant, Mo., and Margaret Clayton of Jacksonville; nine grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Rev. Ann Long, (who died in 1972, he had worked at the same time as his wife, George and Clara (Jennings) Long).

Mr. Long's remains were cremated.

A memorial service will be held at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 17, at Unity Chapel, 3300 Village Lane in Granite City, with the Rev. Harvey Humes officiating. Arrangements are being handled by Thomas Memorial Mortuary.

Memorials are requested to the American Cancer Society.

Mary Huff

Mary L. "Marie" (Perry) Huff, 92, of Granite City died at 9 a.m. Friday, Sept. 8, 1995, at her son's residence in Galena, Mo., following a four-month illness. She was born Aug. 12, 1903, in Venice and had been a lifelong resident of the area.

A homemaker, she was a member of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church in Granite City.

Survivors include two sons, John Huff of Collinsville and Richard Huff of Galena; two daughters, Anita Winters and Margo Evans, both of Granite City; 17 grandchildren; and 30 great-grandchildren.

Shooting

suspect's son had sold to a Hoerle family member. The discussion on the front porch became heated and the suspect tried to shut the door, witnesses said.

But Hoerle stuck his foot in the door, picked up a rug and threw it at the suspect, witnesses said.

That is when the suspect allegedly shot at Hoerle, witnesses said.

According to police, a bullet passed through the screen door before striking Hoerle in the chest.

While a published report of the incident states that the bullet ricocheted off the top of the door before hitting Hoerle, Ruebhausen said the evidence in the case doesn't substantiate that account.

He would dispute some accounts of the incident I have read," Ruebhausen said, but declined to comment further on the investigation.

Hoerle was a sales associate with R.K. Stratman Co. and a law enforcement graduate of Belleville Area College.

An obituary appears elsewhere in today's Journal.

Visitation is from 2 to 8 p.m. today, Sunday, at Werner Chapel for Funerals, 3939 Lake Drive in Pontoon Beach, where services are at 11 a.m. Monday with the Rev. Delmar Shirley officiating. Burial will be in Sunset Hill Memorial Estates in Glen Carbon.

A Masonic service will be held at 7 p.m. today at the funeral home.

Memorials are requested for the West 22nd Baptist Church.

Nina Eads

Nina Jean Eads, 65, of Texas, formerly of Granite City and Sparta, died Monday, Aug. 28, 1995, in Ft. Worth, Texas. She was born Dec. 8, 1929, in Paducah, Ky., and had been a resident of Granite City during the 1980s and Sparta during the 1980s.

Survivors include one son, Wallace Eads of Garland, Texas; and one daughter, Susan Hooper of Dallas.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Lloyd "Bill" Eads. The family will receive friends from 9:30 to 10 a.m. Monday, Sept. 11, at the chapel in Vahlia Gardens of Memory, 3200 Old St. Louis Road in Belleville, where a memorial service will be held at 10 a.m. Monday. Burial will follow the services.

Arrangements are being handled by Restland Funeral Home in Dallas.

Circus slated for Mitchell

Mitchell Athletic Club and Kelly-Miller Ltd. have signed a contract for the exhibition of the Kelly-Miller Circus, to be held in Mitchell on Thursday, Sept. 28, for two performances.

Founded in 1938 by the famed Miller family of Oklahoma, it is one of the few remaining tent circuses in America.

Asked if it could be expected that a traditional "old time" circus will be presented, co-owner and manager David Rawls said, "Our business is built on tradition."

Rawls invites the public to a free preview at 7:30 a.m. on circus morning to see the animals unloaded and the tents raised.

The tents will go up between 8:30 and 9 a.m. and clubs will be furnished for children of elementary school age.

The circus is just one of the many fund-raisers the club has each year to raise money for the services it provides the community.

distribute it Friday. Such a letter has been typed and mailed to all parents of children in classes with the sick student, Holloway said.

Hepatitis A is a virus affecting the liver. Early symptoms include fever, loss of appetite and nausea. As the disease develops, jaundice — or yellowing of the skin or eyes — may occur.

Parents of children who may have had contact with the sick child may wish to consult their family physician, Holloway said.

service for an additional $2.75 per month, under the terms of the contract extension.

If curbside recycling is made mandatory city-wide, Waste Management would provide the same service for $1.25 per house each month.

Rather than seek proposals and negotiate a long-term hauling contract, city officials decided to seek the extension with Waste Management in order to prepare for a state mandate requiring a 25 percent reduction in the county's waste stream by next summer.

The county's Environmental Committee is strongly urging municipalities to adopt curbside recycling programs.

Norton Environmental Systems of Independence, Ohio, wants municipalities to commit to a mixed-waste plan. With a mixed waste plan, all garbage — including recyclables — is hauled to a central processing facility where recyclable materials are pulled from the waste stream and later resold.

Pastor

church after a friend asked them to go to a revival in Glen Carbon.

"My first trip I wasn't so impressed," he said. "I was angry as a matter of fact, because they were so happy. I couldn't understand how anybody could be happy without a lot of money. My concept of happiness was really way off base."

"That whole week it just kind of bothered me about the simplicity of the thing and how happy they were," he said. "So I asked my wife to go back the following week."

He reported God, and eventually found his ministry.

"It was my heart's desire, I wanted to do that," he said. "Because it seemed to be something solid, something you can help people with."

He spent about two years as an evangelist, and then decided to start his own church.

"After two years I realized I needed my own pulpit," he said. "I felt I had some ideas and concepts that were a little bit different."

In addition to the Sunday sermons, there is counseling, hospital visits, weddings and funeral services.

"You're on call 24 hours per day, and you do receive a lot of calls because of the situation the world is in today," he said. "I used to average 40 weddings a year, but I've dropped that down and let my associates handle those," he said.

Crippen said because of the nature of his job, he is always working.

"Sometimes in socializing, you're still counseling," he said. "It never lets up no matter where you are. My office goes with me wherever I go."

Crippen said his spiritual visitation was his "main thrust."

"People are flat on their back," he said. "You can help a sick man."

"A man that's well, running around, going hunting or going fishing, he doesn't need your services," Crippen added.

Crippen said much of his spare time is spent in Bible study.

For sermons, Crippen said he usually starts with a single thought.

"For some people (sermons) can be hours and hours of preparation," he said. "All I need is a thought — If I get the thought the rest comes to me."

"If I'm driving down the highway I can see a sign that says 'stay off the median.' I can get the sermon from that," he added.

"Stay off the middle ground. The scripture says you can't serve two masters, either Satan or God, you can't serve them both, so stay off the middle ground."

Part of the problem with preparing sermons is that they sometimes do not fit the mood of the congregation, Crippen said.

"I do prepare sermons, but I must be able to sense what is going on in the congregation," he said. "If you prepare a sermon on healing, and everybody comes in happy, you don't have much of a sermon. You can get by with it, but it doesn't minister to the needs."

Louis Zoo. Steve Bircher, curator of mammals-carnivores at the Zoo, announced the winners. Awards were presented by Susan Krawll, Zoo Friends Association president, and Mark

Blethroad, special events manager for Schnucks Markets. The contest was sponsored by Schnucks Markets and the Suburban Journals. Wyn Winchell of St. Louis was the grand-prize winner and the first-place winner in the Reptiles, Amphibians, Fish and Invertebrates category. In addition to $50, a $50 Schnucks gift certificate and 10 rolls of film for first place, Winchell won an additional $50 Schnucks gift certificate and an engraved picture frame for the winning photograph as the grand-prize award.

Shannon Fuller of Chesterfield won first place in the Junior category for people ages 10 and younger. Eric Barnes of Manchester won second place. Honorable mention was awarded to Andrea Evans, Ballwin; DeAnn Judd, Granite City; and Elizabeth Cimo, St. Louis.

Dominique Crain of St. Louis won first place in the Junior category for photographers ages 11 to 15. Eric Ogle of Hazelwood won second place. Honorable mention was awarded to Andrew Foley, Granite City; Alex Cox, Ballwin; and Lauren Updike, St. Louis.

The first-place winners in the Junior categories each received a season pass to the Raging Rivers water park and five rolls of film. Second-place winners each received four one-day tickets to Raging Rivers and five rolls of film. Honorable mention winners each received a ribbon.

In the Zoo Architecture category, Edmund Kowalski of High Ridge was awarded first place. The second-place winner was Walter Ries of St. Louis. Honorable mention winners went to Gail Fogarty of Arnold and Sharon Potts of St. Louis.

In the Mammal category, first place was awarded to Carol Weerts of St. Louis. Tina Mikolowski of DePue, Mo., took second place. Honorable mention went to Colette Kennet, New Baden; Karen DeMatteo, Warrenton, Mo.; Tom McLaughlin, St. Louis; Nancy Luechfeld, St. Louis; Thomas Zant, St. Louis; Bea Armbruster, Ellisville; Sandy Kettlekamp, St. Louis; Chuck Fischer, Collinsville; and Richard Kuebel, St. Louis.

Grand prize-winner Wyn Winchell took first place in the Reptiles, Amphibians, Fish and Invertebrates category. Second place went to Richard Kuebel of St. Louis. Honorable mention was awarded to Sharon Potts of Maryland Heights and Gayle Fogarty of Arnold.

Denise Switzer-Winchell took home first-place honors in the People at the Zoo category. Second place went to Malu Gomer-Fanscy. Honorable mention was awarded to Joan Murphy of St. Louis and Wyn Winchell of St. Louis.

In the Black and White category, Paul Thurne of St. Louis won first place. Barbara Morse of Clayton won second place, and honorable mention went to Rachel Willman of Glendale and Cindy Rhoades of St. Louis.

First-place winners each received $50, a $50 Schnucks gift certificate and 10 rolls of film. Second-place winners each received $25, a $25 Schnucks gift certificate and five rolls of film. Judges for the photo contest included Ron Goellner, general curator and curator of reptiles at the Zoo; Lucy Bailey, education specialist at the Zoo; and Pat Hanes, a photographer for the Suburban Journals.

Contest entries represented seven states, including Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Iowa, Maine and Massachusetts.

Church Women United meets

The August meeting of the Church Women United was held Aug. 24 at Central Christian Church with Helen Stumpe presiding. Muriel Kratz inspired the group with a message on "Wonderful Grace From a Wonderful God."

Reports from the chairpersons of the many projects CWU sponsors were given. A blood drive is scheduled for Oct. 4. Training of tutors needed for the literacy program will be held soon. Items are needed for the layette program.

Nona Corzeli reported on legislative concerns and urged the group to write to their congressmen about affirmative action, legal services for migrant workers, possible cuts in Medicare and Medicaid and the Beijing World Conference for Women.

The Southwestern Area Institute will be held on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus at the religious center from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Oct. 7. Kratz, chairperson, said,

"Share the Vision" will be the theme. Dorothy Dickerson, chairperson for the past two years, will be honored.

The Regional Assembly of CWU will be held Oct. 27-29 in Louisville, Ky.

World Community Day will be held Nov. 3 at the Third Baptist Church in Granite City. The theme will be "Preserving the Fruits of God's Love."

The next monthly meeting of CWU will be held at 7 p.m. Oct. 26 at Central Christian Church.

Those in attendance were Doris Anderson, Louise Anderson, Joyce Bennington, Liz Briggs, Lucille Caban, Nona Corzeli, Doris Edwards, Burdene Holtzsch, Mildred Jungels, Dorothy Kinney, Muriel Kratz, Ruth Lelik, Marie Moore, Annabelle Patton, Dorothea Reidelberger, Ruth Rotter, Lena Seitzer, Helen Stumpe, Helen Todroff, Joyce Toussaint and Doris Volaw.

St. Mary's picnic next weekend

Kathy Dohnal covers the Madison-Venice scene for the Press-Record Journal. Articles can be sent to 2108 Lynch or she can be contacted at 797-2077.

Recipe swap

The following is a recipe submitted by Bobbie Papa for the recipe swap.

Goosey Butter Cake

1 box yellow cake mix (without pudding)
1/2 cup melted butter
3 eggs
1 8 oz. package of cream cheese (at room temperature)
1 package of confectioners sugar

Kathy Dohnal

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Mix together cake mix, butter and one egg until thick and smooth like pie dough. Press into a nine-by-13-inch buttered baking pan. Beat together the cream cheese, powdered sugar and two eggs until thoroughly mixed and pour on top of the cake mixture. Bake for 30 to 35 minutes. Sprinkle top with confectioners sugar.

St. Mary's

St. Mary's picnic committee met Aug. 28 to discuss the final plans for the annual three-day picnic, to be held Sept. 15, 16 and 17, on the parish grounds, 10th Street between Washington and Alton avenues.

Musical entertainment includes disc jockey David Hickman on Friday evening, the Dave Hylla Band on Saturday and the Spur on Sunday evening.

There will be a fish fry on Friday, barbecue on Saturday and roast beef dinners on Sunday. Miscellaneous food stands will be set up in Engelbert Hall and various booths will be stationed along 10th Street, in front of the hall.

Hours for the picnic will be 5 to 11 p.m. Friday, 9 to 11 p.m. Saturday and noon to 9 p.m. Sunday. Tickets for the booths and food stands will be available from a "main" booth, located on the grounds.

Polish Hall Dancers

The Polish Hall Dancers performed on Friday, Aug. 4, at the Motherhouse of the Sisters of Divine Providence in Normandy, Mo. The occasion was a 50th jubilee celebration in honor of three jubiliarians.

Celebrating 60 years of religious commitment were Sister Margaret Mary Wilgatek, a former Madison resident; Sister Ferdinand Marie Meyer; and Sister Elizabeth Menke.

Refreshments were served following the performance. Reggie Forys was the director; Lisa Bush is the dance instructor.

Performing were Linda Dohnal, Courtney Dohnal, Robyne Fields, Becky Guenther, Vanessa Tutka, Jennifer Hartwick, David Hartwick, Frank Holmes, Ashley Krawiecki, Brittany Kult, Alexis Lux, William Kutosky, Hannah Kutosky, Geoffrey Lux, Michael Lux, Natalie Ruesing and Alex Kowalczyk.

Old Times Sake

The Old Times Sake women attended the performance at the Fox Theater of the "Phantom of the Opera."

Attending were Pat Lalich, Kathy Dohnal, Pat Scherrills, Mary Firtos, Betty Bucatch and Connie Grupas.

Marriage licenses

The following marriage licenses were issued through the office of Debbie Saltich, Madison County clerk, as of Aug. 17: John L. Jones and Elizabeth H. Brown, both of Granite City. Jackie Allen Severs and Donna Marie Starr, both of Madison.

Sebastian Silva and Dawn Michelle Horn, both of Granite City.

Anthony Scott Uphaw and Alyssa Suzanne Aud, both of Granite City.

Veterans give scholarships

Disabled American Veterans Chapter 53 has awarded 10 scholarships and the Tri-City Veterans Inc. has awarded three scholarships to local students this year. These awards are $500 each.

Tips on enjoying a beautiful Aquarium from the pet experts at FRANK'S®

Let's move inside for a while, at least for a column, into your living room, family room, great room or whatever. Does it contain a bare wall or corner? It lacks something, but you're not sure what? We have an ideal solution. How about an entertainment center? Wait... the kind we're talking about isn't all that expensive. It won't play your favorite CD, but it'll provide years of enjoyment. It's a tropical aquarium!

You've probably admired the beautiful aquatic displays in other homes, at the doctor's or dentist's office and who knows where else. The subtly-lit, colorful displays never cease to captivate anyone who offers even the quickest glance. If you've ever thought about owning your own, it isn't difficult, nor does it cost a lot of money.

Interested? We have a few tips on the subject.

Frank's stocks a variety of aquarium supplies in the pet department, so it's a good place to begin. First and foremost, select a good size of tank and a location for it. The 55-gallon size is ideal. It'll hold enough fish to keep your interest, but won't overburden you with upkeep.

A tropical fish aquarium should be considered somewhat permanent, since moving one isn't the easiest thing in the world. Second, the tank should have adequate support. That small card table won't do it, since a 55-gallon tank weighs in excess of 400 pounds when full. A quality aquarium stand is a good investment. The tank shouldn't be placed too close to a heat source, in warm or cold drafts, or in direct sunlight.

Visit a pet shop that specializes in tropical fish. Just selecting fish at random because they're the right size or pretty doesn't always work. Some types of fish get along fine, but others don't. Introducing them in your tank won't make a pleasant scene. Talk to fish experts. They know who gets along and who doesn't.

How many fish? That's a question that has many answers, depending on the person being asked. But here's what our experts say. Generally, fish don't care for crowded conditions. A good rule of thumb is one inch of tropical fish for every gallon of water in the aquarium. Let's put that into simpler terms. A 55-gallon tank can accommodate 55 inches of fish, or fifty-five fish, twenty-seven 2" fish, and so on. Goldfish like more room, though. Small ones need about 20 square inches of area per fish, medium ones like twice that.

Fish should be fed three to five times a day, but never more than they can eat in five minutes. Some people pour a day's worth of food into the water at once, trying to save work. It doesn't. Excess food sinks to the bottom of the tank, where it will decay and pollute the water.

Fish can get sick, and when they do, they can pass it around to the others. On the good side, if you know what to look for and treat it promptly, you shouldn't have a major problem. Telltale signs are fish that keep their fins clamped, shake their bodies, scratch against objects in the tank, hide in corners, etc. In other words, out-of-the-ordinary behavior. Ick and fungus are two of the most common fish ailments, and treatments are readily available.

In most cases, problems with aquariums are few and far between, as long as simple procedures are followed. A properly maintained aquarium can be a very enjoyable asset to any home.

Cub Scouts have hot, wet summer

Three outdoor activities for Cub Scout Pack 15, led by Richard Waeltermann, cub master, and sponsored by Eagles Aerie 1126 in Granite City, were held this summer.

On June 21, a pack family picnic was held at Woodland Park in Collinsville. The day included fishing games; Waeltermann instructing the Webelos on making camp fires; and Rosemary Geroff, Den 1 assistant leader, showing the Wolves how to tie knots and a picnic lunch.

On July 30, a fishing derby was led by Julie Guika, leader, at Fries Lake in Bunker Hill. The scouts were allowed to pet the farm animals. The scouts will be awarded trophies at the February 1996 Blue and Gold Banquet for the fish they caught.

On Aug. 24, the swimming party was held at Wilson Park. The evening swim was donated to the pack scouts by their sponsor, Eagles Aerie 1126.

As parents and scouts left the pool area, C.R. "Chuck" Stokes passed out candy, which was donated by an Eagle member. The next pack meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 21, at the Eagles Hall, 2558 Madison Ave., in Granite City. Scouts must dress in full uniforms.

David Heck shows off the fish he caught at the Fishing Derby held at Fries Lake in Bunker Hill.

Runaway offense leads West past GCHS

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

The Belleville West Maroons played what coach Dick Hood called "maybe the best half of football since I've been coaching here," and the Granite City Warriors could not recover as West went on to a 41-21 win in a penalty-filled Southwestern Conference opener for both schools.

The Maroons (1-2) took a 35-7 lead at the half, thanks to big performances by quarterback-turned-running back Hernan Horne and wide receiver Robert Jackson.

The Warriors (0-3) got bit by a familiar dog Friday night — the big play Horne scored on a pair of 85-yard runs in the first quarter, and he finished with three scores on the night, plus a pair of 2-point conversions.

JACKSON CAUGHT A 30-yard touchdown pass from Tim Miller, who was playing his first game of the season after a pre-season injury. That pass came with just over one minute to go in the first quarter, and West already had a 19-7 lead.

Horne, who scampered another 47 yards for a score in the fourth quarter, finished with 250 yards on 15 carries. Jackson caught four passes on the night for 134 yards.

"We're trying to run this backfield all year," said Hood, "but we couldn't put them all out there. We put things together tonight, and we didn't have any turnovers by the first team; I was pleased with that."

Granite City coach Don Harris, who practiced his team hard during the week after big plays hurt the Warriors last week at O'Fallon, was philosophical about the defeat.

"The big plays did it again," he said. "When three or four of your plays go for touchdowns, there isn't much else you have to do. But I told the kids at the half that we could either quit, or we could keep playing, and we played a good second half."

AFTER A DELAY of game penalty on the Maroons' first play of the game, Horne streaked through a open right side of the line and went untouched down the right side-line.

The Warriors responded with a 13-play drive; and Bill Nie-

Smith, Kahoks turn away Warriors

Second-half goal paces Collinsville past GCHS

By Brian Brotsch
Staff writer

CHS senior Donnie Smith stood in disbelief after his penalty kick hit the left inside goalpost and deflected back into play Thursday night in the first half of play against Granite City.

Smith felt he had let his teammates down. During the halftime talk, Smith was very quiet and bowed his head in disgust.

HIS CHS TEAMMATES rallied around him at intermission. When Smith took the field in the second half, he was going to do whatever it would take to redeem himself. He did, netting the game-winner, as the Kahoks topped the Warriors 1-0.

"After missing the PK, I knew I had to do something," Smith said. "I felt like I let this entire place down. I knew I had to pick up my game 50 to 100 percent and get it back for us. I saw (the ball) coming across and I knew it was too high for the defenders, so something was going to happen; it was going to get through somehow. I just turned, saw it coming, made the dive and buried it. It felt great."

my head, but everybody on the team picked me up. I got back at it, picked up my intensity and got a goal."

Granite City coach Gene Baker didn't agree with the referee's call. The penalty kick was set up when the Kahoks' Derick Kaspar was tripped up in the box. Baker thought Kaspar took a dive.

"I THOUGHT THE miss was a gift for us, but it was only right," Baker said. "It was a gift for them in the first place. I didn't think it should have been called."

Smiths take center stage in rivalry

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

Granted, it's early in the soccer season. But any time the Kahoks and the Warriors get together, it's an event — as the huge crowd on hand Thursday at Kahok Stadium would attest.

With an event of that size, one might think it would be hard to narrow down the focus to just two players. But in this game, it was simply Smith versus Smith.

Donnie Smith, Collinsville's top scorer, notched his fourth goal of the season Thursday night, and it proved to be the difference in Collinsville's 1-0 win. But the goal should have been Smith's fifth.

Lady Warriors rebound, roll by Collinsville

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

After two tough matches against Belleville teams, Lady Warrior tennis team got back on track at the expense of Collinsville on Thursday, defeating the Lady Kahoks 5-2 in a Southwestern Conference match at GCHS.

Granite City improved to 2-3 on the year, winning three of four singles matches and two of the three doubles matches.

Marci Holsinger came back from a sub-par performance against Edwardsville to defeat one of the top singles players in the conference, Autumn Wilke, 6-1, 7-5.

"WILKE DIDN'T PLAY her best (Thursday) night, but Marci didn't play her best against Edwardsville the other night," Ames said. "That's the way tennis is, and you can't take anything away from the way Marci played. It was a big turnaround for her."

Other singles winners included Geeta Kumar at the No. 2 position, and Melissa Smith at No. 3. Kumar impressed Ames in her 6-2, 6-0 win, and Smith also looked strong in her 6-3, 6-4 win.

"Geeta just doesn't waste any time out there. Her goal is to win the match as quickly as possible," Ames said. "She's also so consistent, and she hits everything back."

Doubles winners on Thursday included the No. 2 team of Julie Hildebrand and Kristlyn Niggler, who defeated Stephanie Tucker and Beth Garner 7-5, 6-1. The No. 3 team of Amanda Crabtree and Michelle Montgomery scored early and often in beating Collinsville's Melissa Lewis and Sung Do Park 6-3, 6-1.

THE ONLY PROBLEMS for Ames and her team are the No. 1 (See LADY WARRIORS, Page 3B)

Senior Marci Holsinger, back for her fourth year with the Lady Warriors, is playing No. 1 singles this season.

Holsinger taking lead with GCHS

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

Granite City got a big win from Marci Holsinger on Thursday, as she defeated one of the top singles players in the Southwestern Conference — Collinsville's Autumn Wilke.

And at this point, there is no doubt who the Lady Warriors' top candidate for postseason success is.

Holsinger, 17, showed signs last year of being a top player, and she has not disappointed. Now she's the player everyone else on the team looks to for leadership.

"AS A SENIOR, and our top player, I would expect that," GCHS coach Linda Ames said recently. "I think the other players can watch her, and see what she does. She's the best we have, and we're really going to miss her after this year."

"I am the only one on the team who's played all four years at Granite City," Holsinger said. "Being one of three seniors, I do have that responsibility to help lead. We have other four-year players, but I'm the most familiar with Granite City."

In her four years, she has seen coaches come and go, and fan support dwindle then resurface. She said she thinks the program has found the right person with Ames.

"She really gets the inexperienced players hitting the ball," she said of Ames. "I think she's going to be here for a long time."

SHE ADDED The fan support has been better the last year or two as well. Since the Lady Warriors have played at home only twice, it should grow even more.

Crusaders cool off GCHS with victory at Arlington

By Rob Raphael

Heading into this weekend's Granite City Scramble, the Warrior golfers had played their home course at Arlington pretty well. On Thursday, they saw a team play it even better.

The Althoff Crusaders, one of the best teams in the area, showed their stuff Thursday as they rolled to a win in a triangular golf match held on the back nine at Arlington.

Althoff (8-0) shot a sizzling 149, which is just 5 over par combined. That was better than the Warriors (16-0), who did defeat Edwardsville (166, 8-4).

IN FACT, BELLEVILLE

schools were rude to the Warriors all week, although Granite City did not shoot well as a team, either. On Tuesday, Belleville West took a 156-162 decision over GCHS. The Warriors are now 9-4 in dual competition.

Tim Riley shot a 2-under 34 to lead the Crusaders, and he was followed by Scott Moore and Chris Brown at 37.

"Althoff is a very good team, and they played our course very well," GCHS coach Boone Chaney said. "I was very impressed with Riley. He's one of the better players around."

Chaney said his team has yet to reach its potential.

Holsinger said the week on Thursday the best she has ever had, but she doesn't have made significant improvement over last year. "That definitely was glad to beat (Winger) said, 'I was glad in the way I played the week against E' so it felt good to be I'm happy with my play."

"That win was said, 'Wilke is prob the top two singles the conference. It was for Marci, and it was a turnaround from a week."

Holsinger, the daughter of Faith and Kent H. Granite City, said she was playing tennis at her older sister, Kristin's, home. She wanted to play Marci picked it up immediately.

"My dad helped me, too," she said. "I've been playing tennis for a while at home."

Horoscope

Sunday, Sept. 10
Windfalls that come through friendships and love are dynamic, as the Aries moon and lucky Jupiter in Sagittarius ignite each other's creative flames. Venus (affection) and Neptune (imagination) harmonize — fantastic brainstormers tumble from your fertile mind so fast you scarcely can catch them all. A spicy dream comes true.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Lovers ignite dreams with new life and build future love on rapport. Rewards come by October. Tame your wild urge to splurge: your savings can dwindle fast. Mythological themes are fascinating.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
The pleasure-seeking bull restores the soul with a day of sensual bliss. Attending a dramatic event sparks an idea that pleases your lover tonight. Extend a favor to your mate. An unexpected repayment arrives next week.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)
A romantic rival loses, and you win your budding romance. Leaves the competition in the dust. Discuss your partnership plans with your prevailing sense of unity helps allies focus on the aims at hand. Give from your heart.

CANCER (June 22-July 22)
Enjoy love with someone you already know and like — possibly a co-worker or fellow volunteer. At social events, your generosity is contagious. An offer you voice inspires others to do the same.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Love on a grand scale's what you need and get. Committed couples ples deepen their rapport. Be aware of illusions. Wisely adopt an attitude of wait-and-see. Athletes have a lucky streak at sports events. Don't rest on your laurels.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Sept. 10)
Consolidate your social gains, your personal network's the key to opportunity through November. By December, a major cash flow begins. Dazzle the business or art world in '96. An exotic trip is linked to your income in the spring. Love peaks in October, January and April. Your charisma's irresistible in January and May. Seek love before June. Your lucky numbers are 8 and 10.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Fantasies abound — what you see is not necessarily what you get. Relish an ecstatic fling, but make no commitments now. Regret. If the love's true, you'll have proof by next weekend.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
You're the star of your own love-show — passionate suitors wie to indulge your every whim. Couples seek and find new spiritual depths in love. Brainstorm with pals — you and your chums bounce imaginative ideas around.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21)
Invest in yourself — skills you've used profitably in the past can now be transferred to a new field. A flash of inspiration shows the way. An ally within the family circle sets a fine example.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
Public or private bonds enhance your sense of well-being. Accept invitations — socializing keeps you in the mainstream of exciting events. Make a career- or school-related choice.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Your delectable sweets slip through your smoke screen and penetrates the heart of sensual you. An out-of-town locale spices familiar romance. A lucky inspiration awaits — let your imagination wander where it will.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
Keeping a flexible schedule is best now — spontaneous outings or romantic day trips inspire grander excursions in the weeks ahead. Your creative fires blaze. A sudden insight keeps you on the cutting edge.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
The crowd loves your style whatever you propose is sure to be a hit. Your public sale or show gains new fans — backing arrives for a visionary project you dream up. A friend repays a favor. Keep tabs on your cash flow.
